(Attention: Mr. J. H. McWhorter
Field Service Manager)

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to your letter of 9 August 1950 in which you stipulate the rate of submission of stencils that must be made by CIA in order to print the [REDACTED] Daily.

We have again looked into the matter of trying to submit stencils, as to rate of submission and time element, to comply with your requirements to meet our delivery deadlines. Inasmuch as our receiving information cannot be regulated, it is not possible to guarantee stencil delivery as you require. Furthermore, if we could assure ourselves of an earlier flow of material from overseas stations, it would require certain reorganization on our part and require an increased editorial staff to report at 6 AM, as well as an increase of more typing positions.

Another review of our NIS program shows that we might expect a printing service of approximately 40 to 50 sections per month. This figure, however, is contingent upon the rate of submission of material by the IAC agencies, which, of course, cannot be guaranteed. We feel, however, that the program will produce over 40 sections per month for the next several months and we must be assured that the printing of the NIS will not be delayed.

In accordance with the above information, it is felt that CIA should continue to reproduce the [REDACTED] Daily with our own facilities.

Sincerely yours,
